SIGNS OF THE TIMES

1928 Wilhelm Riepe develops the first tubular-nib fountain pen, destined to achieve fame and fortune as the "Tiku".

1953 Founder's son Helmuth Riepe takes the Tiku concept a step further to develop the Rapidograph, the progenitor of all technical pens.

1965 The rotring firm adopts the red ring as its official trademark.

1979 A new era begins with the rotring Tikky, a mechanical pencil perfect for almost any application.

1984 rotring introduces the ArtPen, a calligraphic fountain pen originally intended for artists. Its unparalleled ergonomics quickly make it a top seller.

1988 The first rotating trio-pen sees the light of day, starting what will become the successful Multipen series. Constantly growing demand fuels a succession of new product ideas.

1989 New writing instruments express a flair for living and zeitgeist. rotating enters the high-value writing-instrument market with the rotating 600 series.

1993 The rotating 700 series underscores the company's commitment to marketing distinctive products of outstanding design.

1996 rotating once again makes its mark with a host of product ideas and interesting new designs. Products that exemplify anew rotating's conviction that every writing instrument should reflect precision at its most appealing.

ROTRING WRITING INSTRUMENTS

IT STARTS WITH A ROTRING

People who enjoy letting their personality shine through in the little things often rely on a rotring for the big things. Whether writing a resumé, signing a certificate, autographing a book, marrying, buying a car or buying a house. Wherever people make things happen, you'll find a rotring. It starts with a rotring, and ends with success.

WRITING SENSATIONS MADE BY ROTRING

It's the way they feel. And the effortlessness with which they give handwriting its own special character. And that feeling of confidence - the technical perfection of a rotring is just as advanced as its design sophistication.

All rotring writing instruments are created according to ergonomic principles for comfortable, untiring writing. The perfect union of weight, thickness, shape and point friction gives each rotring its own writing sensation. Because it starts with a rotring.

MUSIC IN THE HAND

The rotring Jazz - a virtuoso capless rollerball. No cap to lose or misplace, yet the refill won't dry out. The barrel is stainless steel in a semi-matt silver or graphite ruthenium finish. The point retracts automatically when you clip the Jazz in your pocket. Cutouts in the grip area look good and give you a good hold, and the chrome-plated tip, clip and button give the Jazz an upbeat note.

THE MULTI-TALENTS

The rotring Multipens. When one pen isn't enough. Pocket-friendly retracting points. In matt chrome-plated brass in several choices of finish and points.

BEAUTIFUL BUT RARE

*A*fficionados of the rare and beautiful may perhaps be able to count themselves among the few owners of a rotring Millenium 95. But only if they are fortunate - for each Millenium edition is strictly limited to 3500 pens, making it a scarce collectors' item. The hand-polished calligraphy nib and the unusual design make writing with the Millenium an aesthetic experience. An experience that is made all the more intriguing by the fact that rotring will bring out a new Millenium edition each year between now and 2000. For collectors and others who appreciate the rare and beautiful.
